A TALK WITH DUNRAVEN.

BE SAYS THE NEW YORK Y. C. HAVE BAISED THE SAME POINT

Which Stopped the Match with the First Vallyrie "If They Are Anxions for a Race," He Further Says, "There Will Be Hace"-What He Thinks About the Suggestion of a Challenge for the Cup Being Issued Through Some Other Club, LONDON, Dec. 14.-In an interview with a Field reporter Lord Dunraven said:

"Having regard for the various reports of alleged interviews with me which have been cabled from the States and published in England, I am glad to have a chance to express my opinion, although the matter of the race is now entirely out of my hands." Lord Dunraven then traced the history of the difficulties since 1887. As to the New York Club's cablegram of Dec. 10, he said: were free and backed by a resolution of the Royal Yacht Squadron, I would race on those terms." Questioned concerning the chances of a race pext year, he replied;

I have read that they were anxious to race. If so, there will be a race. But they have made the position very difficult by raising the same point which stopped the match with the first Valkyrie. It never occurred to me that the terms of the 1892 challenge were regarded as satisfactory. Nobody said so when I was in New York in 1803."

Lord Dunraven discussed the chances of future races. If there was any difficulty, he said, he felt it was a pity that those feeling it aid not begin to remove it sooner. His last words were

The race is certain if the committee agree to pace under any circumstances and then clear up their difficulties later with the Royal Yacht Squadron. The race may be for the America's Cup or something else. This is virtually the offer that I made with the first Valkyrie, which the New York Yacht Club refused. It is their turn to offer now. I consider the suggestion that the challenge be issued through some other club than the Royal Yacht Squadron unworthy

The Field will say to-morrow concerning the meeting of the Royal Yacht Squadron Commit-

"If the meeting to-day decides not to hold the cup under the deed of gift, it will mean the deuction of the deed or no more races for the cup under the deed of gift, it will mean the detruction of the deed or no more races for the tup. If they accept the deed, it will mean only that the cup can be challenged for without question under the terms which the New York Yacht Club has now conceded, and which we all ponsider fair, excepting the ten months' notice, Lord Dunraven is likely to be steady on this point, as it means a very great deal.

The New York Club has put the wrong estimate on the situation as regards the new deed,
It would be safe to accept the deed with the New York Club's liberal interpretation regarding what is allowable under the mutual-agreement clause. We believe that Lord Dunraven also has this opinion, but he cannot be answerable for the Royal Yacht Squadron.
In view of the dead-lock it seems most unlikely that there will be any matches in 1895, or any more at all. Lord Dunraven's offer to sail for any trophy that the club may appoint against the vessel which would have contested the America's cup would mean the supersedure of the latter and would be very effective in satisfactorily obliterating
a long train of disagreeable associations.
The very name of the America's cup chiefly suggests now unfairness and contemptible meannees. The recollection of these features would have been obliterated by the liberal terms conceded to the challenger in 1893 and 1894, but now it is pretty plain that the New York Yacht Club must destroy the new deed if the cup is to be challenged for again.

The Field then discusses the suggestion that

Club must descroy the new deed if the cup is to be challenged for again."

The Field then discusses the suggestion that Lord Dunraven apply to another club to sanction the challenge, and recalls that in 1887 a refusal was given to endorse such a course, and the Royal London Club and the Yacht Racing Association denounced the deed, It would be impossible fur any British club to back the challenge, unless it should be made absolutely plain that the cup would be held under fair conditions. "The New York Club deliberately chose to accept and hold the cup under conditions that they now admit to have been unfair, judging by their interpretation of the mutual agreement clause, but because they put themselves in such an unenvisible position, there is no reason why any British club should do the same."

SQUADRON WILL MEET TO-DAY. It Is Expected that They Will Take Defi-nite Action Regarding a Race.

The America's Cup situation remained practically unchanged yesterday. Not a word was ceived from the other side, and the Cup Committee did not hold a meeting. As one of the bring about a race. Now it all rests with the Royal Yacht Squadron-Lord Dunraven."

A private despatch was received at the New York Yacht Club yesterday, announcing that cretary Richard Grant of the Royal Yacht ficers of that organization for to-day. The meeting will be held at Marlborough House, the Prince of Wales's London residence, and the Prince, who is also Commodore of the squadron, will preside. He will be assisted by Vice-Commodore, the Marquis of Ormond: Secretary Grant, and Lord Dunrayen. It is thought that the committee will have something definite to announce at the end of their seasion. While it is not known whether the flag officers of the squadron think they are empowered to take any decisive action looking toward the approval of the New Deed of Gift, there is a feeling among the members of the New York Yacht Ciub that any action a committee headed by the Prince of Wales would take will undoubtedly meet with the unqualified approval of the accting will be held at Marlborough House, the Club that any action a committee headed by the Prince of Wales would take will undoubtedly meet with the unqualified approval of the other members of the squadron.

Lord Dunraven, it is said, is particularly anxious to race this year, as he thinks he will have a world-beater in his new Valkyrie III. He has received every concession asked for except changing the course from New York to Marblehead, and the only question which stands in the way of a race are the conditions under which the America's Cup shall be held if won by the visiting yacht. In the event of the Royal Yacht Equadron declining to accept the terms of the Cup Committee there will be no race unless Lord Dunraven challenges through some other club.

TRACET HARRIS ON THE RULES. The Princeton Expert Discusses Sever

College football men continue to discuss proposed changes in the rules, and the general impression seems to be that the committee should convene at once. It was stated yesterday that the University A. C. were willing to call a meeting, but would not do so until they had received formal requests from the big universities. Many suggestions have been made since the season closed relative to proposed changes in the rules, but very few of the experts have been heard from. Tracey H. Harris of Princeton, however, consented to take at length on the subject with

THE SUN reporter yesterday.

"There is no question," said he, "that the rules as framed by the committee last winter did not work well. Certain changes must be made, and I think the committee should meet without further delay. Although I have not given the matter much thought lately, it seems to me that there are two evils which should be wiped out. One is the rough tackling of the backs who try to catch punts, and the other the momentum plays.

"The rule framed to protect the full back says that if he does not intend to run with the ball he must throw up his hand. While this sounds well, it really acts in the opposite direction. It is a fact that the captains of the big elevens this fall instructed their backs not to make any fair catches, or in other words to run with the ball the moment they had caught it. As this was understood to be an invariable play, the rushers whose side had punted, knowing that the opposing back intended to run with it hustled down the field and tackled him merclessly.

the rushers whose side had punted, knowing that the opposing back intended to run with it hustled down the field and tackled him mercilessly.

"In this play they felt that they were acting strictly in accordance with the rule which says that if the man intends to run with the ball he will not throw his hand up. There were many rough tackles in consequence, and more backs were injured than every before in one season. Among the number were Butterworth, Jerrems, Thorne, Morse, C. Brewer, Fairchild, and Wrightington. But there was additional roughness due to the same play that was not, as a rule, noticed. That was due to players on the defensive side trying to block off the rushers who were running down the field to interfere with the catching of the ball. As the latter felt that they were doing what was permitted by the rule, they were naturally angered when their opponents got in their way and tried to block them off, a defensive play that was the only salvation of the side trying to secure the ball. Consequently, blows were struck, and beutality in some instances was of the most glaring nature.

"My idea is that the rule should read that on a punt no player shall be permitted to interfere with in any way or lay hands upon the back who tries to catch the ball. If he catches it, he must be allowed to kick it back unmolested, but if he muffs the ball it is the property of the first man who falls on it. To give it to the side that punted it would be too radical, for the man muffing the ball should at least receive another chance to regain possession of it. With a rule like this there would not be such a hustle down the field, for instead of a whole team in action, only the ends would cover the back, and the present dangerous system of blocking off would be greatly modified.

"Momentum plays should be absolutely abolished. The rule on this point allows too much freedom, and should be changed so that, we'll say, no player can leave his position in the rush line until the ball is anapped back. That would effectually pu he would be constantly pushed through openings. If such should prove to be the case, I think you would find large, heavy men filling the position.

"I readily recall the fine runs made by Beecher, the Yale quarter back, some years ago, but he was allowed to carry the ball through a trick of the centre passing the leather to one of the guards first. It was a pretty play, but somehow it has dropped out of sight together with many others of the same sort. Yes, I really think that the game as played now is not nearly so interesting to watch as the style of play in vogue ten years ago, and I firmly believe that a return to the old methods would prove popular."

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL MEN.

They Organize a New League and Discuss Future Plans,

A new football league was organized last night to play under association rules. The meeting was held at 432 West Thirty-seventh street, and quite a number of football enthusiasts were present. W. Southern of the Brooklyn Wanderers was in the chair. The following repre-sentatives of the various clubs who want to become members of the new league were present: Robert Johnson, Scottiab-American F. C. of Newark; G. Winters, Centrevilles of Rayonne, N. J. J. McGill, Williamsbridge Taisties of Williamsbridge, N. Y. J. Barnes, Scottiab-American F. C. of Jersey City. W. Southern, Brooklyn, Wanderers of South Biroklyn, southern, Brooklyn Wanderers of South Brooklyn, and H. Johnson, West Side Shamrocks of New York.

After some talk concerning grievances between different clubs, the first business done was to agree on a name for the new organization. It was at first suggested that the old body which flourished last year, the American Association, be revived. This occasioned considerable dissent. At length it was decided to call it the National Association Football League. The entrance fee was fixed at $5. Of course, the projectors figure on having over a dozen clubs to join the league.

A cup valued at $50 will be presented to the successful competitor in the race for the championship. In the event of sufficient money remaining in the treasury of the league at the end of the season, a sum will be devoted to the purchasing of appropriate gold and sliver medals to be donated to the first and second clubs in the race. The winner of the cup is also to be sole owner, and it was agreed that another trophy be donated for the ensuing season.

The unruly playing which characterized the games last year will be done away with hereafter. The referee will have power to remove a too aggressive player from the field at once. Every club will have their own grounds, and the games last year player from the field at once. Every club will have their own grounds, and the games large meeting. Officers will then be elected and other details acted upon.

BROOKLYN'S STAKE EVENTS

A LIST OF GUARANTEED STAKES TO CLOSE ON JAN. 2.

The Brooklyn Handleap of 1893 to Be Worth $10,000, with Corresponding Cuts in Other Events Hight to Declare States In Case of Adverse Legislation

The Brooklyn Jockey Club yesterday an-nounced some of its stakes which will be run at Gravesend next year. Ever since President Dwyer announced through the columns of THE nearly a month ago that the organization of which he is the head would give its meetings as long as there was a cent of surplus in the treasury there has been great curlosity to know whether the standard of values would be as high as in former years, when there was a heavy revenue derived from the betting ring.

Secretary McIntyre has made nearly all of his events of a graduated character, the overplus, if any, to go to the racing fund, and the usual proviso is made that the roles of racing adopted by the Jockey Club shall govern all contests. The Brooklyn Jockey Club also makes the same point as the Coney Island Jockey Club, and prints prominently on its circular: the uncertainty of future legislation affecting racing in the State of New York, the Brooklyn Jockey Club reserves the right to declare vold all of the stakes advertised in this circular.

Should any payments have been made, the money will be returned."

The value of the Brooklyn Handicap is $10,000 instead of $20,000, as for some years past, and other stakes are reduced in proportion.

Nominations for the following stakes may be forwarded to Secretary Hugh D. McIntyre, 399 Fulton street, Brooklyn, entries closing Jan. 2,

The Amazon Stakes of $2,000, for filles two years old. $50 cach, or $50 if declared by April 1. $100 additional for starters, overplus if any to go to the lace Fund; to the winner $1,500, to the second horse $500, and to the third horse $200; winnercod horse $600, and to the third horse $200; winnercod a stake race to carry 5 pounds extra; half a mile.

President Dwyer is quite enthusiastic over the manner in which nominations are coming in for the private sweepstakes for two-year-old colts and fillies. Entries for these events close to-day, and up to yesterday there were eight nomi-nations for each. These are the races which were conceived by Mesars. Dwyer, Keene, Reed, Knapp, and Thompson a couple of weeks ago.

STAKES WILL NOT BETRANSFERRED. Why Harlem Cannot Have the Morris Park Programme.

Horsemen were rather amused yesterday over the offer of the Chicago Fair Association to take the stakes of the New York Jockey Club and run them off at the Harlem track, near Chicago The affair is so thoroughly impracticable that it is surprising the management of the Chicago Fair Association considered it for one moment. When their representative, B. F. Fly, Jr., called on Secretary H. G. Crickmore of the New York Jockey Club on Thursday he was practically told that such a course would not be considered by the Messrs. Morris. The injustice of the whole thing is apparent at a glance. Nearly all of the nominators to the stakes of the New York Jockey Club are Eastern racing men who have no interests in the West, and it would not be fair to ask them to pay forfelt or go to Chicago to race their horses. It would naturally suit Edward Corrigan, E. J. Baldwin, or other Westerners who occasionally send an entry for some of the chief turf prizes of the East, but who race almost entirely in the West; but the scheme of transferring the entire stake programme of Morris Park to Hartem is absurd. When the Harlem people wanted to get the When the Harlem people wanted to get the stakes of the Washington Park Club of Chicago they were on the right track, and Mr. Hanklins and his associates showed enterprise that was commendable. It was quite another matter when the Monmouth Park Stakes were raced for in the State of New York. Nominators to the stakes of the New York Jockey Club entered their horses to run at Morris Park. It is not to be thought of for a moment that they would take kindly to a transfer of the scene of action to Chicago.

Scoretary Crickmore is preparing a statement for every nominator, and unless something to the contrary is heard before this evening he will notify every man who has a horse in any of the New York Jockey Club's events that they have been declared out. This is in accordance with instructions, and the papers will all be ready today for mailing. After this krik will take a much-needed rost for the holidays.

The following is an extract from a letter received by Secretary Crickmore from Alfred Hennen Morris:

RACING AT NEW ORLEANS.

Many Notable Sporting Men Saw the Sport

New ORLEANS, Dec. 14.—The Crescent City lockey Club was favored with ideal racing weather to-day, and the attendance was far in excess of that of any preceding day this week. The track will be in excellent shape for the events of to-morrow, when the Traction Handl-cap will be the feature.

The great influx of sports who have come to attend the fights before the Auditorium Club assisted materially toward increasing the crowd in the betting ring, and a lot of money changed hands which had been brought here to go on the fighters. Among the notables were Frank Ives, the champion billiardist; Capt. A. C. Anson of the Chicago Baseball Club, Jim Hall, Parson Davies, Joe Choyinski, and A. J. Levy. Tommy Shannon of Lexington was a new arrival at the paddock to-day and will be followed to-morrow paddock to-day and will be followed to-morrow by his stable.

Three of the favorites landed first money and made it a profitable day for the talent. Starter Pettingill made a miscrable blunder in the fourth race and virtually gave the race to clara Bauter by sending her off at the post fully four lengths in the lead. PIITSBURG'S NEW TRACK.

Cole Uliman Enthustantie About a Race Course in West Virginia.

Perranguage, Dec. 14. - Cole Ullman of Chicago. the projector of the new race track at Collier's Station, W. Va., on the Panhaudic Railroad, 35 miles west of Pittsburgh, was in conference here to-day with several local gentlemen. Ullman was asked to take an interest in the Monaco track, but declined on the ground that the anti-pool selling laws of Pennsylvania made it dangerous to risk a dollar in race-track enterprises in this State.

Uliman is enthusiastic over the Collier Station venture, and says that whether he gets any encouragement in Pittsburgh or not the track will be in operation next spring. His plan is to form a stock company of Pittsburghers, who will be financially interested in the affair. If Pittsburghers do not take kindly to the enterprise the money of Edward Corrigan, the Chicago race track magnate, will float it along. The Secretary and other officials of the track will be Pittsburghers. Uliman says no other form of speculation will be tolerated at the course but pool seiling. He does not think that the new Legislature of West Virginia will offer any opposition to the concern. The track will be a three-quarter mile affair, and the projector says the best horses in the West will appear in its sevents. the anti-pool selling laws of Pennsylvania made Four Well-played Horses Win at Roby. CHICAGO, Dec. 14.-The first four winners at Roby to-day were all strongly backed, and the best horses under the conditions won all through. ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 14.-The Cornell faculty at their meeting to-day discussed Prof. Wilder's resolution, "Shall athletic teams be permitted to have leave of absence?" The discussion was animated, and several professors supposed to be uninterested in the matter took sides one way or the other. Finally, after two hours' debate, action on the resolution went over to a meeting of the faculty to be held on Jan. 11. Otto Wagenhurst and Thos. G. Hunter, representing the University of Pennsylvania in rowing matters, were in Ithaca to-day, and met the Council. The men from Pennsylvania were here to get a more thorough explanation of Cornell's position as regards Pennsylvania's going to Eugland and taking part in the Henley regatta at the same time that Cornell does. The discussion was of a very amicable character, but Cornell did not recede one step from the position which she had assumed in the matter. The Pennsylvanians were informed that Cornell proposed to put an eight-cared crew on the water to row Pennsylvania as in the past, and that the trip to England was merely a side issue. The Pennsylvanians finally said that they would not go to Europe unless forced to, but they were not empowered to say so positively. They were merely on a mission of inquiry, and would report back to their athletic association.

It was decided, however, that unless unexpected contingencies should arise Pennsylvania would turn out a freshman crew and that for Council. The men from Pennsylvania were here pected contingencies should arise Pennsylvania would turn out a freshman crew, and that for the first time in the history of the two institutions Cornell and Pennsylvania would row a freshman race. Mesers, Wagenhurst and Hunter returned to Philadelphia to-night. The bonds of frieldship between the two universities are more firmly cemented than ever before.

How Columbia Students Propose to Pay

Johnny Reagan's Boy Wine A select coterie of sports saw a ratiling fight with small gloves in a resort in this city late last Thursday night. The principals were Al. Jackson, an Alabama colored man, and Young Doherty of Philadelphia. Doherty is a protégé of Johnny Reagan, and weight 105 pounds. The bout originally was to have been a limited number of rounds, just to try Doherty dut. However, it was finally arranged to have it a "go" to a finish. Jackson, whose best forte is at slugging, was whipped in the fourth round. Doherty rushed throughout the contest and landed many hard blows. In the last round Jackson was forced to the ropes, where Doherty delivered blow after blow. The colored lad's face was badly dansaged. Seeing that his chances of victory were very slim, he gave up the fight. Al Rushill, the referee, then gave Doherty the devision, Reagan told This Sun reporter that he would back loherty against any 105 pounder in America for any amount. colored man, and Young Doherty of Philadelphia

The Pierce-Bolan Fight Eads in a Figgle WASHINGTON, Dec. 14 .- The fight last night between Eddie Pierce of New York and Jack Bolan of this city ended in a fizzle at the Eureka A. C., near Alexandria. rended in a usua at the bureks A. C., near Alexandria. The articles of agreement called for a prominent business man of Washington as referee. Such a one was selected, but Bolan objected to him and insisted on naving the club's referee officiate. To this Pierce objected. Bolan finally acreed to accept the man named in the articles of agreement, but announced that all bets must be declared off. This incensed the referee, and the spectators set up a howl. The bleriff of Alexandria county, who was in the audience, arose and aunounced that if a fight was pulled off he would arrest the referee and principals. This ended the matter.

NATIONAL GUARD NOTES.

The Guard has made a very gratifying increase it markmanship during the past season, the increase in markmanship during the past season, the increase being 1,217 over 1862. The official figures from the office of the General Impector of Rifle Fractice for 1894 for the entire Rate is: Experts, 83; sharpshooters, 1,034, and markamen, 8,016; aggregate, 9,153.

The committee of the Old Guard of the Twelfth Regi The committee of the Old Guard of the Twelfth Regiment having in charge a history of the regiment have completed their work, and the result is a volume of nearly 300 pages, with portraits, camp scenes, &c. The volume has been published by subscription, and the edition is limited. A few extra copies will be available for friends of the regiment interested, the price being $0. The members of the association and those who subscribed will shortly receive a notice to meet at the armory, when the book will be distributed to them.

The warriers of the Old Guard are now busy prepar ing for their annual outburst, which takes place on Wednesday, Jan. 16. Elaborate arrangements are under way. Madison. Square Garden, where the ball will take place, will be specially decorated.

By order of Col. Camp the Twenty-second Bertmen will assemble next Therelay evening at its armory, for a review by Cot. B. H. McAlpin, the incoming Adju-tant-General. It was originally intended that Gov. Flower should review the command, but, owing to the pressure of public affairs, he found it impossible to be present. On this occasion the State decorations for long and faithful service will be presented. There will probably be a regimental drill.

The corner stone laying of the new armory for the Ninth Regiment will take place next Monday at 9:30 A.M. There will be no parade of the regiment and the commissioned officers will appearincivilian dress. It is thought that the Armory Board has shown little or no interest in having the regiment represented. In the evening the officers and guests will gather in the armory to celebrate the occasion. The Board of Ordi-cers' trophy for the greatest percentage of marksmen, was won by Company A. The drill and reception of the Ninth Regiment drum and fife corps will take place on Wednesday evening, Jan. 28, at the armory. all the original and revised army camp calls will be

The following endorsement on the muster rolls of the Seventy-first Regiment from Gen. McGrath speaks for itself: "Certainly for the past twenty years, and possibly for a much longer period, the Seventy-first Regiment has not passed so creditable an inspection. The command was paraded in undress, with packs and overcoats rolled. Ordinarily this uniform would impair military appearance, when contrasted with full dress, but here the conditions were strongly re-versed. Clean brasses, well cared for equipments steadiness, and soldierly bearing predominated. While all credit should be bestowed upon officers and men for these flatfering conditions, there is no doubt that the master hand to the commanding officer.
